

Membership Terms:

Thanks for considering membership at Underworld.Studio. This is the best way to take your project to the next level, whilst also allowing us to sustainably fund our programmes and give back to the community.

We offer two types of membership.

Solo membership: For individual creatives £99 per month

Group membership: Up to 4 people in one band/organisation £189 per month

You will have access to a unique live room, our collaborative workspace, a professional control room, and isolated booth for vocals and solo recording, as well as high-end recording equipment and software. A full list of the studio equipment can be found on our website and all of it is available to members after completing an induction to understand the space and ensure equipment doesn't get damaged in use.

Booking is simple via our desktop and mobile app system (underworldstudio.skedda.com). Just make an account under the email you sign up with and, once you have been approved by an admin, you will be able to make a booking. Initially there will be no strict time limit on the number of hours per month, however, this is subject to change as we grow and take on more members in the future. We ask that members be considerate of one another in booking the space. Any changes to the terms of use, such as changes to hours of availability and limits on bookings will be communicated with a month's notice.

Each individual or group will need to provide a deposit and their contact information on starting their membership, as well as a months notice in order to cancel it. Fees are due in advance of each month and a deposit of £200 is due initially, to be returned as and when your membership ends. We understand that reasonable wear and tear is to be expected, but any misuse of the equipment resulting in damage will be chargeable. The induction will ensure you understand the space and avoid any accidental damage.

The studio is located in the basement of an office building and, though the space is heavily sound-proofed, we have to consider the impact of noise on the other tenants. Members will receive a key to the building and another to the studio for the duration of their membership, and be added to a group-chat with the other tenants so we can resolve any issues that may occur. We reserve the right to terminate or refuse membership at any time for any reason. In such a case, we will refund any fees paid in advance and return your deposit provided all is in order and you have returned your keys.

All bookings give exclusive use of the full Underworld.Studio space, but we ask members to give an informative title to their booking so we can understand how the space is being used and improve its functionality over time. Bookings do not come with a studio engineer. This can be booked separately so that once your project is ready for that professional touch, it can be a seamless process to get it finished.

Underworld.Studio also offer packages in photo and video, editing, graphic design and publishing services so please get in touch and see what we can do for you.
